NAMI Connection Recovery Support Groups are free, peer-led support groups for adults living with mental health issues. You will gain insight from hearing the challenges and successes of others. The groups are led by NAMI-trained facilitators who’ve been there.

NAMI’s Support Groups are unique because they follow a structured model to ensure you and others in the group have an opportunity to be heard and to get what you need. By sharing your experiences in a safe and confidential setting, you gain hope and develop relationships. The group encourages empathy, productive discussion, and a sense of community.

A NAMI Connection Recovery Support Group will help you:
- Recognize that mental health issues are often based in trauma
- Aim for better coping skills
- Find strength in sharing experiences
- Forgive yourself and reject guilt
- Embrace humor as healthy
- Work for a better future in a realistic way

“...People can solve problems at a NAMI Connection Recovery Support Group. It isn’t just a bunch of sad stories; people are coming up with solutions and stuff to do for the next week. One of our group has started working with a therapist again and is just about able to go back to her career in great part due to Connection.”

“NAMI Connection has enabled me to take a good look at my illness and see that I am not alone. The program has given me additional tools to not only accept my illness, but to help others along the way.”
